Trees are planted in formal rows

Areas of grass has been left longer to improve biodiversity values of the area

Paths of shorter grass have been cut and maintained to allow access

SITE PHOTOS

Stumps of trees removed remain on site

Some properties are situated close to the tree belt

KEY ISSUES

- The trees will have a formal protected status
- The Order will provide a mechanism for works and allow greater scrutiny of tree work
- The buffer strip was planted specifically to protect amenity “aid the visual transition from open countryside to housing”
- Amenity and biodiversity value of the woodland are important to retain

RECOMMENDATION

Confirm the Woodland Tree Preservation Order
